DAN RICE'S CIRCUS .- On Monday next, Dan Rice's celebrated Circus is to exhibit at this place. We notice that all the city papers everywhere speak in high praise of the abilities of this company, and we have no doubt it deserves all that is said of it. The citizens of Evansville, whose liberality to such establishments is proverbial, would, no doubt, like to enjoy the opportunity of expressing their opinion of the merits of this company, if they could do so without subjecting themselves to inconvenience. The Agent of the company, who arrived here some days ago to make the necessary arrangements for its performing here, was not only churlish and illiberal, but showed a disposition to dictate the terms upon which the curiosity of our citizeus could be gratified, a very large number of them at home, and render the receipts of the establishment meagre to what they would heve been had he pursued a different and a wiser course. In order to avoid the late would have been had he pursued a different and a wiser course. In order to avoid the late would have been had he pursued a different and a wiser course. MOUNT OLYMPUS, Sep. 13th, 1848. The citizens of Washington township, Gib son county, metat Mount Olympus for the purpose of forming a Rough and Ready Club.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. John Ennis; W. Barr appointed Secretary, pro tem. The object of the meeting was briefly stated by W. W. Willard, after which the President, on motion of Mr. Willard, proceeded to appoint a committee of three, consisting of Stephen J. Lindsay, John A Gullick, and W. W. Willard, to report a constitution and appoint permanent officers for the Club. The committee, after a few minutes deliberation, reported the Constitution as adopted by the Vanderburgh Rough and Ready Club, except the the Post finds out that he intends to vote for name, for which was substituted the name of the Gibson County Rough and Ready Club, and the following gentlemen as permanent officers: Fieldling Colvin, President; John Phillips, Vice President; Amaza Price, Secretary, and John Ennis, Treasurer.
